BRITISH OUTFLANK GERMAN ARMY AT CAEN

Nazi Stronghold Appears Doomed By Allied Drive

10 Villages Taken Within Two Days

By JAMES M. LONG

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Wednesday, June 28 (AP)—British troops striking out quickly on the Eastern Normandy front after the fall of Cherbourg which boosted Allied losses to at least 70,000 men since D-Day, yesterday outflanked the German stronghold of Caen on the road to Paris.

Last front dispatches said the British had reached the Ordon river at a point five miles southwest of Caen after cutting the trunk highway and railway linking Caen with Villers-Bocage and Avranches at the base of the Normandy peninsula.

Capture 10 Villages
The British in two days had advanced more than seven miles from positions around Tilly-sur-Seuilles, captured ten or more villages, overran numerous enemy gun emplacements and now were on the verge of breaking into open country ideas of a showdown with German tank formations.

A dispatch from Associated Press front correspondent Roger D. Greene said the British reached the Ordon at 4 p. m. and quoted a British officer as saying that the Germans evidently were short of infantrymen to hold the ground in the area, although the enemy still packed a terrific wallop with its tanks.

12 Nazi Tanks Destroyed
Between twelve and fifteen German tanks were destroyed during the day, and the British were clearing up enemy remnants in Colleville, Torville, and probably in nearby Meun, five miles southwest of Caen, he said. The British also were fighting in the village of Grainville.

Other British units were reported within three miles of Caen on the Ordon river.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British units sprang into action even as thousands of German troops were filing into American prison cages at Cherbourg and Allied reinforcements were hurrying to make the prize port a springboard for stage reinforcements and supplies as the invasion went into its fourth week.

20,000 Germans Captured
Twenty thousand Germans have been captured in the clearing up of Cherbourg peninsula. The Allied communiqué said, "and more are being brought in."

The fall of Cherbourg late Monday night gave the Allies the port and railroad for the double-track railway leading to Paris. A seventh section of the track now in Allied hands, extending from Cherbourg through Carentan and Bayeux to a point only a few miles west of Caen, the "hinge" of the German eastern positions.

British Capture Ruins of Chiusi

Heavy Fighting North of Rome

By GEORGE TUCKER

ROME, June 27 (AP)—British troops striking hard at the core of German resistance some eighty miles above Rome, have recaptured the ruins of Chiusi in heavy fighting and tonight were slugging with German tanks in the outskirts of Castiglione Del Lago, nine miles northwest of Chiusi on the shore of Lake Trasimeno.

Chiusi has been the site of the fiercest fighting since the fall of Rome. South African troops entered the town a week ago, but were driven out by a German armored counterattack. Since then the British army has been gathering its strength for the decisive blow delivered yesterday.

Nazi Losses Severe
Lieutenant General Sir Oliver Leese's Eighth army headquarters announced that the Nazis suffered heavy losses in the fighting around Chiusi, with more than 200 captured in the concluding stages of the battle. Although Leese's troops drove on to the edge of Castiglione Del Lago, front dispatches said the Germans were strongly entrenched in the town and probably would be blasted out by artillery.

Similarly stubborn enemy resistance had slowed but not stopped American and French divisions advancing along an approximate seventy-mile line between Chiusi and the west coast. Fierce fighting was in progress southwest of the key town of Siena, thirty-one miles below Florence, with tank forces reported within another five miles after capturing the rubble town of Montecatini.

Flying Bomb Real Menace: No Nation Is Safe with Enemies Making Them, Says U. S. Scientist

Another Nation Developing Such Flying Bombs, He Said

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Germany's constant bombardment of Southern England has shown itself to be a weapon of great potentialities, poses a new problem for the peace-makers and opens up vistas of savage warfare aimed at the civilian hearts of nations.

An American scientist who is closely associated with the war effort and was one of the developers of radar and instruments for precision bombing through clouds, described the flying bomb today as "a development as revolutionary as the airplane, with a tremendous future and a definite political problem."

This scientist, whose name may not be disclosed, declared, "In the postwar world, development of rocket and jet propulsion must be placed in the hands of some international body to administer. No nation in Europe—perhaps none in the world—could feel safe with

Republican Labor Plank Criticizes Administration

Praised by Lewis, Scored by Green

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The Republican convention slashed at New Deal administration of labor laws today in a plank which was praised by Lewis and scored by Green.

The plank was quickly endorsed by K. C. Adams, editor of the United Mine Workers' Journal and frequent spokesman for Lewis, as "the best platform the Republican party has ever offered labor."

Green is critical in a statement commenting on the plank that "instead of being simple and direct, the language is general in character and susceptible of varied interpretations."

Green said in a statement commenting on the plank that "instead of being simple and direct, the language is general in character and susceptible of varied interpretations."

In sizing language, the Republican labor plank accused the New Deal of attempting to destroy collective bargaining and substitute a totalitarian labor front.

Lauding the Republican party as "the historical champion of free labor," the plank set down such charges against the Roosevelt administration as these: "perversion of the Wagner act, 'political trickery' in the administration of labor laws, conversion of administrative boards into instruments for effectuating new deal financial and economic theories, emasculation of the department of labor, freezing of wage rates at arbitrary levels."

Among the pledges were these: a secretary of labor "representative of labor," fair administration of the Wagner, wage and hour, social security, and other acts designed for the welfare of labor, and equal benefits to all labor "regardless of political affiliation."

Heading the labor subcommittee on platform drafting was William L. Hutcheson, vice president of the AFL and president of the Carpenters' Union. The plank reflected not only his views but those of John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' president, whose personal emissaries delivered Lewis's representations and were in constant contact with the subcommittee.

The plank made no reference to the Connally-Smith labor disputes act, nor did it specifically mention Green's proposed amendment of the Wagner act to provide stronger safeguards for craft unions. Another Green proposal, endorsement of the Wagner-Murray-Dingell social security bill, was omitted, as was the wage proposal of the CIO.

The plank was aimed at all labor. Nowhere did it use the term "organized labor."

Many German Troops in Helsinki As Token of Solidarity to Finns

STOCKHOLM, June 27 (AP)—German troops marched through the streets of Helsinki tonight toward Finland's Eastern front in the first token of solidarity and "perfect understanding" just announced as being achieved by Finland and Germany, a direct Associated Press dispatch from the Finnish capital said tonight.

Even before Helsinki's official communiqué had announced the new degree of Finnish collaboration with the Axis Germany, the troops had tramped through the capital, singing their Nazi army songs.

One German detachment marched past the Finnish Parliament while the deputies were in session.

G.O.P. Platform Meets Approval Of Convention

Swiftly Ratified In Spite of Willkie

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

CHICAGO STADIUM, June 27 (AP)—The Republican national convention swiftly ratified today a platform on which it hopes to win the presidency—a platform which plattered a snub of potentially historic dimensions on Wendell L. Willkie.

A fight against the foreign policy plank by Willkie and fifteen governors collapsed so completely that no more than a fourth of the 1937 delegates turned out for its presentation to the convention.

Approved by Dewey
Without debate or audible dissent, they shouted acceptance of a 1944 statement of policy reported to have the approval of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, prospective candidate.

Shortly before, strong pressure developed for an all-governor ticket—Dewey of New York for president, Earl Warren of California for vice-president, to take the platform to the people. The big Pennsylvania delegation decided at a floor caucus to go for Warren.

The foreign policy plank had offered the only possible issue capable of producing a rising floor scrap. But it was evident that opposition had fizzled before Chairman Robert A. Taft of the Drafting committee stepped forward under the stadium's brilliant floodlights to read the document.

Plans for "Peace Forces"
On the foreign policy, the Republicans declared for a "postwar co-operative organization among sovereign nations to prevent military aggression and to attain permanent peace with organized justice in a free world."

The party proposes that "peace forces" be used to "prevent or repel military aggression."

"We pledge prosecution of the war to total victory x x x," the platform says.

"We declare our relentless aim to win the war against all our enemies: (1) for our own American security and welfare; (2) to make and keep the Axis powers impotent to renew tyranny and attack; (3) for the attainment of peace and freedom, based on justice and security."

Willkie against Plank
Willkie, the dark horse Republican candidate of four years ago, had assailed the plank as an ineffective means of stamping out aggression. Fifteen Republican governors had called it too involved.

But Willkie knew whether or not the plank was sound, his objection would mean he might bolt his adopted party and thereby possibly weaken its chances to climb back to the political pinnacles.

Perhaps with a view to placating him, both Taft and Senator Farley of New Jersey, who had been the plank's chief opponent, committee member, said the foreign plank meant "military forces" should be used to halt aggression.

Whether that satisfied Willkie was not known immediately. But it placated at least one governor. Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, who had termed the foreign policy plank "wordy," voiced faith in these assurances and thought nothing would be gained by a floor fight.

Austin Not Satisfied
Austin himself said the foreign policy plank was not all he desired. The senator, whose views are similar to Willkie's, said he did not believe the latter would bolt.

"I sincerely believe," he said, "that Wendell Willkie will lend strong support to this policy of the Republican party relative to peace and war."

Fireworks Displays Banned in Maryland

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—All fireworks are forbidden unless approval for their display has been obtained from the Insurance department, State Insurance Commissioner Lawrence E. Enor reminded the public today.

No section of the state is exempt from the operation of the law and the term "fireworks" includes fireworks of every description, he said.

Possession and discharge of fireworks is punishable by a fine of not more than $50. The sale of fireworks in violation of the act is punishable for each offense by a fine of not more than $200.

No Word from Bricker
Dewey, in Albany, was considering taking an overnight train to Chicago with the idea of expediting the party palaver. But that was contingent to some extent on whether Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio would withdraw.

In the Bricker camp, there was no hint of any change in plans to let his name be placed in nomination for the presidency.

Hoover Appeals For Freedom for Returning Vets

Says FDR Plays Power Politics

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, asserting the New Deal in milder form has followed tactics of European revolutions, told the Republican convention tonight that "only by a change to administration will our returning soldiers find freedom preserved at home."

He also declared that President Roosevelt apparently was engaging in "power politics" and "personal power diplomacy" in foreign affairs. This, he asserted, is "not the diplomacy of freedom."

Addresses "Younger Men"
"This convention is handing the leadership of the Republican party to a new generation," the former president and party elder statesman said, and addressed these words particularly to the "younger men":

"You in your own manner can lead our people away from the jungle of disorder, cynical and bitter ideas, the topsy-turvy confusions, the hopelessness and lack of faith and defeatism that have haunted this nation over these dozen years."

"You can lead our nation back to unity of purpose again."

In general, Hoover's theme was that this war is being fought for freedom and it will not be attained at home or in the world if there is a continuation of the Roosevelt administration's domestic and foreign policies.

He made these principal points:

Makes Five Points
1. "Any compromise with Hitler or Tojo will destroy all hope of either freedom or a lasting peace."

2. The young people in the armed services want, most of all, freedom when they return from the war—they want to be free to choose their own jobs and not be ordered to them by a bureaucrat."

3. Under the New Deal, there has been a progressive degeneration of freedom in America.

"This is every day, every sorrow, every fear of the people being used to further fasten some part of these totalitarian practices upon us?" he asked.

4. Freedom can be regenerated in this country but it means the "hard task" of actions to "self-reliance, stimulate initiative, and thereby create men and women of energy, of dignity and of independence."

Face Gigantic Problems
"The easiest task of government," he said, "is to suppress individuals, subject them to bureaucracy and subside them to lean on government—or a political party. If a government has enough power, it can always do that."

5. "We are faced already with the gigantic problems of making a peace where freedom can live."

Developing that last point at length, Hoover said it is obvious that nationalism is on the rise and that "ideas of world super-government, no matter how idealistic, are already dead from these cold blasts of realism."

Willkie Silent On Future Plans

Refuses To Discuss His Foreign Policy

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie refused tonight to say whether he would support the Republican foreign policy plank adopted at Chicago, despite the expressed opinion of Senator Warren Austin of Vermont that he would do so.

In the language of Priscilla, speak for yourself, Warren, the 1940 presidential candidate told an interviewer after the senator's prediction that he would "lend strong support to this policy of the Republican party relative to peace and war" had been read to him.

In the face of speculation in Chicago that he might bolt the party which rebuffed his foreign policy proposal, Willkie declined to amplify tonight's statement beyond the paraphrase of the apocryphal advice of Priscilla Mullins to John Alden.

The foreign policy plank approved today by the Republican national convention declared for a "postwar co-operative organization among sovereign nations to prevent military aggression and to attain permanent peace with organized justice in a free world." It also proposed that "peace forces" be used to "prevent or repel military aggression."

Willkie last night issued a statement assailing the plank.

He criticized tonight's support to his desires, as the whole platform was adopted without opposition.

Says He Cannot Take Nomination If It's Offered

Bricker Appears Likely Choice

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Governor Earl Warren of California declared tonight that he could not accept a vice presidential nomination if it were offered.

Object of a cascading draft movement, the big Californian rejected a request from the Oregon delegation that it be allowed to place his name before the convention for second place on the Republican ticket.

He said in a letter to the chairman of the Oregon group:

"Any good citizen should be willing to accept such a responsibility, unless prevented from so doing by compelling obligations inconsistent therewith. And, you may be sure that I would be happy to accept your offer if I were a free agent in that regard. However, I have made certain commitments and assumed certain obligations to the people of my state which are not yet fulfilled."

"It, therefore, becomes my duty to request you not to place my name in nomination or to cast your ballots for me because I could not accept a nomination for a place on the national ticket if it were offered."

Warren has insisted all along that he did not desire a place on the national ticket, but sentiment for him in the convention has been so strong that he had been regarded from the opening day as the leading possibility.

Bricker again Mentioned
Others who have been mentioned include Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, Rep. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Governor Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, and William Hutcheson, vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce also has figured in talk.

With Warren apparently adamant that he could not take the post, speculation moved back to these:

Repeats Former Statements
Warren merely was saying once more, as he had done many times since he came to Chicago, that he had commitments to carry out in California that would preclude his taking a spot on the national ticket.

Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan told a reporter he thought Bricker probably could have the vice-presidential honor if he'd take it.

Both Ferguson and Senator Warren Austin of Vermont, said Bricker appeared to have a stronger chance than anyone else, with Warren out of the running.

Dewey Preparing His Acceptance

Expected To Fly To the Convention

ALBANY, N. Y., June 27 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey began working on his acceptance speech this afternoon amid indications he would not leave for Chicago until the Republican national convention nominated him for president, scheduled for tomorrow.

The governor began dictating and writing the speech after lunch. Later, advisers were called in to help. This was Dewey's first definite indication he would accept the nomination, if offered.

Train Trip Unlikely
Although earlier reports indicated arrangements had been made for a possible quick train trip to Chicago tonight, it appeared today the governor would fly to the convention city immediately after being informed of his nomination.

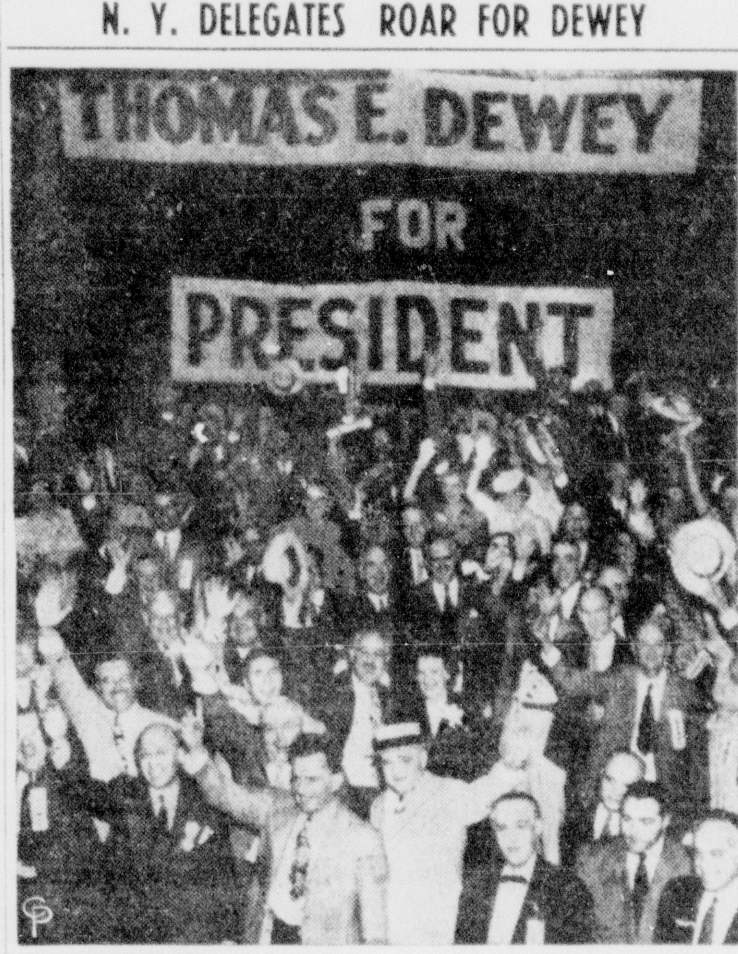

This would be in keeping with his repeated assertions that he was not a candidate, whereas if he left before the actual designation he might be accused of repudiating his stand.

Both plane and train arrangements have been made for the trip, the mode of travel depending upon developments.

Once Dewey has been nominated, it was deemed unlikely he would resign as governor.

Will Remain Governor
Capital observers recalled that former governors Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt continued to serve during their presidential campaigns.

Dewey will complete half of a four year gubernatorial term next December 31. If he should be elected president, he could resign his gubernatorial duties at the end of the year, ten days before the presidential inauguration. He would be succeeded by Lieut. Gov. Joe R. Han-

Japs Go All Out In Saipan Battle

American Marines Under Heavy Fire

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, June 27 (AP)—A bitter struggle raged today for Saipan, key to the Marianas islands, and its capital of Garapan with heightened Japanese resistance indicating an all-out infantry battle may be at hand.

Frontline dispatches pictured desperate street fighting in Garapan. American marines and infantry held the southern outskirts of the town, which had a peacetime population of 10,000.

Jap Snipers Active
Patrols probing into the city met the fire of Japanese snipers and machinegunners. Every house and cellar was a hideout for enemy soldiers and every street and alley was littered with the dead. The town was a pile of wreckage.

The island-wide battlelines hinged at the center on Mt. Tapochan, now in American hands. From that dominating height at the island's center the front reached westward to coastal Garapan and eastward to Donny Bay.

Japanese resistance had stiffened all along the front and a dispatch from Howard Handelman, representing the combined American press.

Terrain Slows Advance
Terrain typical of the worst of the Pacific battlefields was slowing the American advance. The irregular front poked sharply ahead where resistance was light and ground conditions favorable. It sagged where heavy opposition and difficult going confronted the troops.

The northern slope of Mt. Tapochan was still held by the Japanese at last reports. There also were enemy pockets of resistance in caves or dug into the cliffs. Against these the assault forces moved warily.

Using small artillery and flame-throwers the Americans cleared out the pockets and caves one at a time. Each reported Handelman, was a deadly small scale battle in itself.

Complete air and naval superiority aided the invaders.

Yap Island Bombed

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Wednesday, June 28 (AP)—Warplanes from the Southwest Pacific hit Yap Island in the Carolines with thirty-five tons of bombs and destroyed nine enemy airplanes in the newest sweep from this sector in support of the Saipan operations farther north.

Heavy Bombers Attack Budapest

Yugoslav Railway Yard Also Raided

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—American heavy bombers and fighters from Italy attacked Budapest military targets and a Yugoslav railway yard today while the RAF's heavy bombers, in one of their rare daylight missions, attacked German flying-bomb installations across the channel from England in unfavorable weather.

The German radio tonight said Allied raiders were over Western Germany indicating the aerial assault of the continent was continuing.

The Soviet radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said Allied planes were over Western Bulgaria and that others were flying over Albania and Southwest Serbia.

Bomb Oil Plant
The Eastern command of the United States strategic air forces announced that Russian-based American heavy bombers attacked a German synthetic oil plant at Drolin, Poland, on Monday.

With Monday night's RAF "mystery" raid on the north Ruhr town of Göttingen—possibly a strike at the "backroom boys" who are building the flying bombs—these attacks raised to five the number of Nazi-ruled European countries that felt the weight of Allied bombs in less than twenty-four hours.

Weather Hampers Airmen
Over the battlefronts in France air operations continued to be strictly limited by poor flying weather.

Five hundred to 750 American Portugees and Liberators based in Italy braved the bad weather with fighter escorts and bombed identified targets in the Budapest area through cloud cover. They met strong enemy fighter opposition and knocked down an undisclosed number.

The German and Hungarian radios said the bombers caused "fires and damage in several parts of the capital" and claimed German and Hungarian interceptors shot down "several" of the attackers. The Germans also said there was an air alarm at Bratislava, capital of the puppet state of Slovakia.

Delegates Sweller

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The temperature soared to 100 degrees at 5 p. m. today giving GOP national conventioners Chicago's hottest weather of the year and inducing delegates to seek shade.

Delegates sweltered in the sun-drenched hall of the Biltmore Hotel, where the convention was held.

Republican Platform Plank Urges New Law for Freedom of the Press

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—The Republican party platform declared today for freedom of the press and radio, calling for a new law to define the role of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and asserting that "vital facts" must not be withheld from the American public.

"We want no more Pearl Harbor reports," asserted a provision of the platform which said there "must be no censorship except to the extent required by war necessity. The plank added:

"In times like these when whole peoples have found themselves shackled by governments which denied the truth, or worse, dealt in half-truths or withheld the facts from the public, it is imperative to the maintenance of a free America that the press and radio be free and that full and complete information be available to Americans."

Maryland Republicans United for Dewey

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Maryland Republicans, factional differences apparently forgotten, arranged today to cast the state's full sixteen votes in the national party convention for Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Two erstwhile factional leaders and political enemies—Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore and Baltimore city Republican Chairman Paul Robertson—agreed to act as a team in casting the Maryland vote for Dewey on the first ballot.

Several of the Robertson-affiliated delegates, who had announced for Governor John Bricker of Ohio, fell into line after a caucus with Robertson.

The agreement followed a conference between McKeldin and Robertson, after which both men avowed that harmony existed and that the Republican party in Maryland was united again.

Military Policeman Shoots Jamaican

MIAMI, Fla., June 27 (AP)—George O. Davis of the War Food Administration said a military policeman shot and slightly wounded a Jamaican farm worker today during an altercation at a camp near Goulds. "I don't know the details," Davis added. "The military is investigating. The wounded man has been hospitalized. He was shot in the fleshy part of the leg. 'I believe there was some sort of trouble in the chow line.'"

Davis said about 1,850 Jamaicans are quartered at the WFA camp awaiting transportation to other parts of the country where they will work on farms.

In the preceding week (the week ended June 17) the total was 77,462 including 47,722 loaded on line and 29,740 received from connections.

Carloads handled the same week of 1930 were 64,173 comprising 42,608 loaded on line and 21,565 received from connections.

FDR Will Approve Price Control Act

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he will approve recently passed legislation to extend the life of the Price and Stabilization acts.

The chief executive told his news conference the bill will be signed Saturday to place it in effect July 1, expiration date of the present law. He said he probably will have a statement at that time.

At today's conference, he did not go into the legislation which passed Congress last week after administration won a compromise victory toning down amendments which price officials and some others had denounced as inflationary.

De Gaulle Government Is Favored By Majority of American Voters

Those Who Follow Controversy Would Grant Claims of French

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 27 — American voters who have given enough thought to the de Gaulle issue to have an opinion on it, vote overwhelmingly in favor of extending diplomatic recognition to the de Gaulle Committee as the provisional government of France.

This is revealed in a nation-wide survey on the de Gaulle issue which has stirred up a hornet's nest of controversy both in the United States and in England. Newspapers, on both sides of the Atlantic, have heatedly discussed de Gaulle's action in demanding recognition, some praising him as a brave spirit who personifies French resistance, others criticizing him as a presumptuous leader who stubbornly refuses to co-operate unless he can have his own way.

While only about half the voters of the United States can correctly identify de Gaulle and still fewer have followed the de Gaulle controversy closely enough to have an opinion, those who do have opinions are two-to-one in favor of granting the French leader his demands.

This is shown in the vote on the following question:

"Should the United States recognize the de Gaulle Committee as the provisional government of France?"

The vote of those who are familiar with the situation and have opinions about it follows:

YES ..... 66%

NO ..... 34%

The argument put forth most frequently by voters who want to see de Gaulle recognized is that he has proved a loyal ally to our cause in fighting the Germans. For example:

"He's been willing to fight on our side right from the beginning. . . .

While other French leaders gave up and began co-operating with Hitler, de Gaulle never wavered. . . .

He seems to have the following of the French people. . . . He is loved in France. . . . His patriotism and courage entitle him to be recognized. . . .

We recognize other exile governments who have done less to help us than de Gaulle has. . . .

He is a responsible leader. . . .

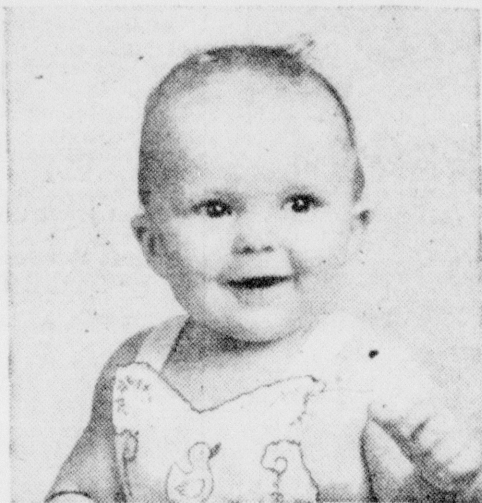

Those who oppose recognition name the following reasons most frequently: "De Gaulle hasn't been chosen officially by the French nation. . . .

How can we be sure the French themselves want him? . . .

We should wait till after the war, it's too early now. . . . De Gaulle has aspirations of a dictator. . . .

He is too interested in playing politics."

State G. O. P. All Out For Dewey and Harmony

WISHFUL KIDDING by Democratic critics heretofore over the status of the Maryland delegation at the Republican national convention at Chicago has turned out to be a dismal flop in view of the harmonization effected therein through the efforts of Representative J. Glenn Beck of this district.
At caucuses held Sunday night and Monday night, all the difficulties occasioned by the split votes arranged at the recent state convention in the interests of peace were composed quite satisfactorily to all concerned. The Marylanders decided to snivel their split-voting into conformity to a rule adopted by the last national convention, and are now casting sixteen full votes, or one apiece. It is noteworthy that in making the arrangements Galen L. Tait, state chairman, went to the point of self-sacrifice by eliminating himself as a delegate-at-large. Paul M. Fletcher, of this city, also eliminated himself as an alternate delegate in the move for harmony, but he has been appointed on the committee to notify the presidential nominee of his selection. Morgan C. Harris, also of Cumberland, is a delegate-at-large with a full vote.
Harris is a member of the Resolutions committee, and in its untiring labors starting several days before the convention opened, he gave particular attention to the labor plank. The News learns that this will be one of the outstanding utterances of the platform, with a more excellent labor stand, which is more liberal than any hitherto adopted by the party in national convention, highly satisfactory both to labor and management, and providing great encouragement for attaining the desired objective of industrial peace with uninterrupted production. This will be good news to the labor people, and those of management who are concerned.

Moved by the great tidal wave toward Dewey, the caucus finally voted in support of the New York governor after Paul M. Robertson, unsuccessful aspirant for the party nomination for United States senator and for the post of national committeeman, had been moved somewhat by the Bricker undercurrent. Finally under the persuading influence of Representative Beall, Robertson concluded that the Dewey prospects were of too great significance to warrant any attention to the Bricker movement and went along with the delegation. As a columnist states in a nearby column, Bricker's qualities made a big impression among many delegates, the most of whom would have been satisfied with him had he had any chance, but his boom was too late to counteract the tremendous Dewey sweep.

Let no Democratic carper get the notion that Paul Robertson is going to be moved in any way by peevishness over the compromise. He entered into it with the same fine spirit in which he gave his solemn pledge at the state convention to support the party. He is a Republican through and through, and his efforts for success at the November polls can be counted on. Democratic wishfulness to the contrary notwithstanding. As a matter of fact, such differences as have been represented by him are salutary in a political organization. But, as of yore, Republicans have a way of getting together.

Nor let no one suppose that Mr. Tait, the able state chairman, will become a nonentity because he gave up his vote at the convention. As the Baltimore Evening Sun says, he may not have an official position there, "but he will continue to exercise influence which he is accustomed to wield in party matters" and as for his not being a delegate that is, "for a man of his talents, of no consequence at all," which is quite true.

If our Democratic carpers can have but a tiny fraction of the harmony at their national convention over the detailed Mr. Wallace and some other persons and things as that which has characterized the Marylanders at Chicago, they should be pretty well pleased.

Production Signals
IN RELEASING aluminum and magnesium and in promising to release steel and copper soon for civilian production, Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, says the step is taken partly to assure war plant workers that there is a future in their jobs. Some of them are seeking other lines of work in the interest of continuing production that does not interfere with war production. To help clear the way for rapid conversion, the WPB has authorized construction of working models of products to be made and the placing of orders for required machine tools. The object is to have everything as nearly ready as possible for assembly line production of civilian goods as soon as the war situation makes this feasible.

There are signals for industry in all these steps. The time is here to plan for continued production following termination of war contracts. The plants that are ready for peacetime production will hold the maximum number of their war employees and will get in on the lively civilian demand over the longest period of time.

Robot Rocket Bombs And Future Warfare

REPORTS on the robot rocket bombs fired by the Germans from the Pas de Calais area on the French channel coast at the time this was written were that the bombardment had diminished somewhat. This may indicate that the constant pounding of that area by Allied bombers has had the desired effect of smashing the installations. The previous reports, however, noted that the Germans were sending a constant stream of the pilotless plane missiles into Southern England.

The effect of this sort of warfare is probably much greater than official British statements have indicated, keeping in mind the likely belief of the British government that the damage should be minimized.

The damage done probably is not vital to the war effort at present because the robot rocket bombs cannot be directed at targets like battleships from rifles. But they can be directed in the general direction of targets and in time their mechanism might be developed until they would fly with unerring accuracy. The first blunderbuss or firelock probably shot wild, too, but during the centuries it has been improved until today it is accurate within its distance.

These Nazi robots, however, give a preview of what future wars can be like. Unless war is presently outlawed and prevented, the future will see nations at war doing most of their fighting by remote control. The battles being between every citizen of each opposing nation. There would be a race to see which one could produce the greatest number of long-range robots and get them started on their deadly missions.

But if men throughout the world can come to their senses, there is a possibility that such a day happily will never arrive.

Spiritual Imbeciles

PSYCHIATRISTS who have the equipment to probe into the minds and spirits of young German prisoners of war have made a gloomy report. Speaking German, and having studied the Nazi system of planning and cultivating ideas, ideals and corruption, they believe that their reports are substantially true. They find that the young German has no sense of pity or charity. The weak are fair game. Preferably the way to deal with them is to liquidate them, to get them out of the way of the strong. They have hardly less feeling of compassion for the unfortunate. They may develop some tolerance for the one who seems to be the victim of adverse circumstances beyond his control, but they will do nothing to help him.

For the people of countries which treat government as the servant rather than the master of the people, they have nothing but contempt. They even look with contempt on the American policy which determines that as prisoners they shall be comfortably housed, moderately worked and fed the same ration as the American soldier. None but a soft nation, they argue, would so favor the enemy who only recently was trying desperately—and succeeding to some extent—to kill the best of its marshall.

But the worst is that the psychiatrists believe that young men so twisted and contorted and indoctrinated between the ages of 8 and 18 are incurable spiritual imbeciles. They can never be purged of their brute animism. They can never be lifted to even the minimum level of human decency.

Time and German defeat may modify this forecast, but even when heavily discounted, it warns that perhaps the peace must be a peace of force, quickly and harshly applied and never relaxed, so far as Germans are concerned.

A new insecticide will flyproof a room for three months we read. Our curst philosopher is already figuring out how many man hours of putting up and taking down screens this should save.

The man at the next desk says there are two kinds of women. The kind that wish they could afford to buy a new hat and the kind that wish they could afford to buy a more expensive one.

The Allies have captured 250 German women who were operating coastal artillery. We knew the Nazis were gangsters even before we knew they had their own "gun molls."

There seems little hope that the political campaign will be free of personalities. Some one already has referred to Attorney General Biddle as "the vacancy in the Justice department."

Tojo's unlucky number, it seems, is not thirteen, but B-29.

"You're Different"

By MARSHALL MASLIN

The boy turns to the girl at his side and whispers: "I love you because you are different."
She will have none of that "non-sense." She is "modern" and she laughs at him: "Don't be silly, Bob. I'm just like any other girl!"
But don't let her fool you, Bob. You're wiser than she. You know what all lovers know—that she is different and if she loves you as you love her, she believes deep in the warm heart of her that you are different, too.

She is different now and she will be different always. You will never know another girl quite like her. You will hear other husbands say, some years from now: "All women are alike. All wives do the same things." . . . Do not believe them then, even as you would not believe them now. She is different even though she will not let you say so.

And YOU are different, too. You never lived before. You cannot exist again. The thoughts you think, the dreams you hide, the way you have of doing things—all these are different.

You are as different from the other fellows as each wave that rushes to the shore is unlike its green and silver brothers.
You may look like anybody else, but you are NOT like anybody else. Others can do things you cannot do, but you can do some one thing nobody else can achieve.

Ingenuous nature made YOU unlike all other products of her genius. You must do some things that everybody does. You must follow many a path worn down by the multitude, but you should be able to do ONE thing that nobody else has ever done.

You must be true to that faithful faith of hers—the faith she will not admit—that you are different from others.
Be brave enough to follow all those differences in your character that are known only to her.

Unity at Chicago Is Striking Thing, Mark Sullivan Says

By MARK SULLIVAN

CHICAGO, June 27.—The most striking feature of this convention is an absence—the absence of contention. By contrast with most conventions, it is really remarkable. So far as there can be said to have been a contest for the presidential nomination, it has been between Governor Dewey, of New York, and Governor Bricker, of Ohio. Between these there is no real spirit of harsh rivalry. Partisans of one have occasionally emitted wise cracks at the expense of the other. But this is no more than would happen in any friendly game.

It is done as an expected conventionality, and some of it is in response to newsmen seeking salty copy.

As respects delegates, many who came here favoring one would have been satisfied with the other. Governor Bricker's strength did not consist in the main of delegates instructed for him, and hotly determined to have him. It consisted rather of a considerable margin of Dewey delegates who if the conditions were different, would be satisfied to have Bricker. There are no "first, last and all the time" delegates.

No Bolting Seen
There is no group of delegates so hotly partisan for one candidate that they become infected with emotional hostility toward the other.

There is no group of delegates who will be so disappointed by failure of their candidate to win, that they would give a moment's thought to bolting the ticket or even "lying down" on it.

As respects the nomination for vice president, the only thing having the nature of a contest has been a foot-race, consisting of the nomination pursuing Governor Warren of California, and the governor running away from it. Governor Warren really does not wish the nomination, and prefers to stay with his responsibility as governor of California during the especially difficult times that will come to that state with the end of the war.

As it is with candidates, so it is with platform planks. The flurry that has occurred about the foreign relations plank has been a difference of opinion among a small number of leaders about a comparative minute shading of words. It has not reached down to the delegates. There is no group of delegates who will go home with a sense of grievance because one word is used instead of another.

Details Not Bothersome
The delegates as a whole are bent on the central purpose of bringing about an international organization to preserve peace. They do not violently take sides on details. To grasp the extraordinary absence of contention in this convention, compare it with what may be expected in the Democratic convention next month. True, in the Democratic convention there will be no contest of any consequence on the presidential nomination—though there may be protest against re-nomination of Mr. Wallace that may have a flavor of bitterness. But in that Democratic convention will be two violently antipathetic groups of delegates.

One will be the left wing delegates who have been elected from some industrial centers in the North. The other will be the delegates from some southern states, and other conservative delegates from some northern states. These groups are so separated in background and ideology, and both are so partisan for their ideas, that it is certain they will oppose each other bitterly and spectacularly.

The contending groups will oppose each other on several ideas and issues. In the way of Democratic conventions they are likely to fight it out openly, with debate on the floor.

In the Democratic convention, as respects the one nomination not decided in advance, that for the vice presidency, there is likely to be real contention. That Mr. Wallace should be re-nominated is the main purpose of the left-wing groups in the party—he is the symbol of their ideas. Similarly, Mr. Wallace is the symbol of what the conservative Democrats bitterly oppose.

Traditions Are Upheld at Chicago, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

CHICAGO, June 27.—There is something comforting about the fact that a national convention is being held, comforting in the sense that American traditions and institutions are being maintained notwithstanding the chaos of wartime.

It is refreshing to feel that the machinery of both major parties is continuing to function and that the system of selecting party nominees has not been crushed aside by a wartime dictatorship. America has been able to retain her organized democracy and yet fight a total war.

The Republican convention is in many respects too traditional and too much like normal. The conservatives who like a "straight" candidate, a simple, straightforward and forthright candidate who isn't coy or opportunistic are behind Governor Bricker. But the Ohio governor has started too late.

Governor Dewey has all the glamour because he has been the successful governor of the most popular state in the union. This counts heavily with the practical politicians even though they fear his possible conservatism. So the bandwagon for Dewey started before the convention assembled. In fact, the only thing that has happened thus far is that an actual tabulation of the votes in the various state delegations has been made as each state has held its caucus.

As Predicted
The result is exactly the same as the press associations predicted weeks ago. Dewey has an overwhelming majority so when the obvious comes true, it carries no sensation. That's why one hears comment that this is a very dull convention. If there has been uncertainty or a contest, the description of the convention would have been different.

Still notwithstanding the fact Governor Dewey's nomination has been assured, there is something missing which is not accounted for by the statement that the convention is ratifying a selection the delegates have been making these last several weeks. What is lacking is the dynamic spirit of a militant party, and that's lacking because the nominee has been, for reasons of his own, a silent candidate. He is submitting to the "draft" because he refused to go back on his promise to the people of the state of New York that he would devote all his energies to the governorship and wouldn't lift a finger to get the presidential nomination. He has kept faith with New York state populace but, now that he is about to accept the nomination, the big question is whether Governor Dewey's strategy hasn't made the nomination itself worth less than would have been the case if he had been an aggressive spokesman of regenerated Republicanism.

No War-Peace Controversy

Mr. Dewey is to come here this week to deliver his acceptance speech. Maybe he can put some pep into the delegates that way and send them home prepared to wage a strong fight. But the Republican concept of the 1944 campaign has been to lie low and gather in the protest votes. The war issues have been carefully sidetracked in the hope that the Democrats wouldn't get any advantage out of them.

The Republicans believe in prosecuting the war vigorously and they pledge co-operation with their nations after the war. One can hardly see any lines of controversy on the war or peace issue as yet. Maybe Wendell Wilkie, who stands apart, may, after it is over, dissect the platform and persuade a substantial following that the Chicago convention was too discreet and too careful and not sufficiently forthright.

Tariff Troublesome

The real difficulty is that the Republican platform makers are thinking more about pleasing their conservative brethren on the high tariff issue than they are about foreign policy. Some of the influential Republicans still feel that the tariff wall is a sacred barrier which must be preserved no matter what it does to world peace or world economies. If the Republicans continue to think about the tariff primarily and the tariff can be a symbol of their provincialism in the midst of a world wide war the Democrats will not hesitate to debate that issue and show its relationship to future world peace.

The Republican convention looks like many previous conventions. The nomination is a foregone conclusion and so is the platform. The whole thing could have been done weeks ago—because the Republicans usually believe in compromise instead of controversy in their conventions.

Coalition Must Defeat New Deal, Pettengill Says

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The Axis is a coalition, Germany and Japan. Its opposition is a coalition, Britain, Russia, United States, China.

Nothing but a coalition can beat a coalition. The New Deal party is a coalition. Its opposition is, in fact, a coalition.

It was a coalition that beat the Court-packing bill. Neither the Republicans nor Democrats could beat it alone. A coalition beat the equally dangerous reorganization bill of 1938.

Every constructive act of Congress in recent years has been passed by a coalition. Every curbing of executive usurpation, of bureaucratic tyranny, every recapture of legislative power previously voted away owes its accomplishment only to a coalition.

The New Deal party is a minority party. When its opposition is divided, it wins; when its opposition is united, it loses.

mouldy shibboleths, and a flee-bitten bloody shirt?

In particular, will the Republicans snatch defeat from the jaws of victory by beating yesterday's cracked drums?

That Gettysburg Spring

At Gettysburg there is a spring. It is said that wounded and exhausted men, Johnny Reb and Yank, met there at night and by common consent, drank from the same spring. When the calm of night and the peace of God fell over the little Round Top and Pickett's trampled wheat fields, these Americans forgot they were foes and remembered they were brothers. They did not inquire how their grandfathers had voted for presidents long dead.

We need a Gettysburg spring today in the arena of politics. There is one. It flows from the rock of the republic, the constitution of the United States!

What else matters today on this side of the oceans that wash our shores? If we recapture constitutional government, we can build again from the wreck of war. If we do not, America becomes a "polyglot boarding-house" filled with European ideologies. We will go step to the demands of the all-powerful State.

Constitutional Party

What then can patriots do? They can do what they have done on the battlefield. They can form what is in fact an American coalition; what is in fact a constitutional party. They can support constitutional Democrats in some districts and states, constitutional Republicans in other districts and states.

Then we can have a constitutional Congress next session. We will need it. Some day the war will end; perhaps this year. When that day comes we must rid American job-makers from the blight of taxes, and the future of our children from the burden of debt.

The New Deal party intends to fasten present controls on us from now on—permanently. It intends to Europeanize the United States. Only a coalition can stop it.

Japs at Turning Point in China, James White Says

By JAMES D. WHITE
(Substituting for Kirke L. Simpson)

Japan is at a turning point in South-Central China where Premier-General Tojo will choose between a passive defense based on the Maginot line mentality and an aggressive counteroffensive which if successful could prolong the war in the Orient.

The evidence is that he is choosing the latter course.

Japs at Fork of Road

Literally, the Japanese army already is at a fork in the road. From the strategic rail junction of Hengyang which it now besieges, one railway runs south to Canton, another southwest to Kweilin. Chungking dispatches now openly express the fear that the Japs may take the road to Kweilin, 180 miles away. Beyond, another 90 miles, is Luichow. From Luichow, 200 miles to the northwest lies Kweiyang, and west from Kweiyang 300 miles is Kunming. Japanese dispatches speak of every one of these cities as centers of American air activity.

Chungking, the wartime capital, lies 200 miles straight north of Kweiyang.

Danger Is Obvious

The danger of such a drive on Kweilin has been obvious since it became apparent that this summer the Japanese would take Changsha and for the first time invade the approaches to American air bases in Southeast and Southwest China, but the suggestion did not get past the Chinese censor until yesterday. No official hint was given as to why this subject now becomes mentionable, but it is possible that the Japs may already be on the road to Kweilin from Hengyang, which may have been bypassed.

All fronts in the Far East are complicated, but the one factor which makes them comprehensible is the uniformity of Japanese policy and the way it ties in various fronts to a single objective.

With this principle in mind, widely separated pieces of strategy can be fitted into a pattern whereby Japan seeks to paralyze the weakest spot in the Allied line against her. In simple truth and without reflection upon the bravery and patience of the Chinese, this weak spot is China.

Jap Defenses Breached

The American assault on the Marianas has breached the empire's homeland defenses. Meanwhile at the western extremity of Japan's conquest, the Jap grip on Burma is slipping.

Therefore, stymied at sea and forced back on their farthest land front, the Japanese must concentrate in the regions where their communications lines are shortest, where their conquests are more mature, where they have indeed an industrial heartland to power the defense for which they are trained and equipped—a continental defense based on China and Manchuria.

But as long as Free China remains militarily articulate, this cannot go forward, especially when American air strength builds slowly but methodically on Chinese bases. So Japan appears now to be stalling at these centers of American air power, and even beyond.

Morning Motto

The progress of democracy is irresistible, because it is the most uniform, the most ancient; and the most permanent tendency which is to be found in history.—DE TOCQUEVILLE

Soft Drinks Shortage Caused by War

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—Soft drink manufacturers will be unable to fill more than half the demand from war factories this summer because of a shortage of sugar.

Lapides, soft drink manufacturer and treasurer of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages said that "although the industry now received eighty per cent of the sugar it utilized in 1941, instead of the seventy per cent authorized for the first part of the year, the hot weather requirements of industrial plants are far greater than before the war."

Scrap Shortage May Slow Steel Industry

FREDERICK, Md., June 27 (AP)—Edwin C. Barringer reported today that a shortage of high grade scrap might cause a serious production crisis in the steel industry unless the war ends by next winter or steel operations are decreased.

Barringer, president of the scrap iron and steel institute of America, told an army conservation conference that "inventories of both suppliers and consumers (of scrap) have fallen 400,000 tons in the first four months of this year" and that only about eleven weeks' visible supply of scrap remained.

You buy electric, gas, and phone service on a metered basis— Why not banking service?

NO fair-minded person questions the justice of charging the users of electricity, gas, and the telephone in accordance with the amount of service that they use. If you burn more lights, consume more gas for cooking or heating, or make toll calls, you naturally expect to be charged for the extra amount. In like manner, people who require and use added bank service would expect to pay for it.

The money the bank uses to cover the expense of collecting your deposits and paying your checks comes from the earnings on your deposit balance. If you either keep an inadequate balance or increase the expense, incurred in handling an excessive number of checks drawn or deposited, it seems only fair that you pay the excess of this expense over the earnings from your balance—on a metered basis.

You pay a flat charge just for having a telephone or a meter for electricity and gas in your home. For a like reason, it is proper that the depositor who keeps only a small amount in his own personal bank account should pay the cost of keeping his account open and ready for service at all times.

Playground Group To Meet At Frostburg

Summer Recreation Schedules Will Be Arranged This Evening

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 27—Determined to carry out plans to provide recreation for older boys and girls of the community, a meeting will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock on the playground of State Teachers' college, with John "Chip" Grindle, playground director, presiding. The matter of arranging for summer dancing, tennis, bowling and summer basketball will be discussed. Grindle stated that not many of the older boys and girls have been given advantage of the facilities provided by the playground group. He expressed the hope that the meeting might be largely attended and that teams may be organized and schedules formed.

Tennis and basketball will be played at the college, social dancing will be at Beall elementary school and bowling at the various establishments in the city.

The mayor and council, the recreation committee and the playground staff are ready to do their part in providing recreation for the older group and added that it is up to the boys and girls and their parents to do their part.

The playground staff is in need of a victrola to provide music in evening folk dancing. Anyone wishing to donate the use of one may contact Grindle or any member of the playground committee.

Salvage Drive Is Success

The Frostburg tin can and paper drive held Saturday resulted in the collection of approximately ten tons of paper and four tons of tin cans, which were hauled to Edmont by trucks and loaded on for shipment to the mills.

Machines were kept separate from the paper and trucked directly to the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's mills at Luke.

The drive was conducted under the direction of Walter Mackay, who had charge of the tin collection, and H. C. Givens, Jr., who had charge of the paper salvage.

The trucks were donated by city of Luke for use in collecting the tin and by M. W. Race, Dust Furniture and Undertaking Company, Charles Dillon and the Mexico Rectories Company for the paper collection.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, lie sour and heavy within you. Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's, taken as directed, aids digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25¢. You'll be glad you did.

Wastepaper Drive Yields Fifteen Tons

Cumberland's West Side and adjacent territory as far from the city limits as Potomac Park yielded between fifteen and sixteen tons of paper on the first day of the current wastepaper collection campaign, Emmett A. Dougherty, who is in charge of the collection, announced last night.

W. Donald Smith, chairman of the salvage committee, expressed satisfaction with the results of yesterday's collection effort and said the total represented a "lot of paper out of almost every home."

The collection job yesterday was handled by a crew of six men and six boys using four trucks. Dougherty said, and began at 9 a. m.

Today's collection likewise will get underway at 9 a. m. and will cover North Cumberland, including the sections north of Baltimore avenue and east of Wills creek. The north side of Lindnerville also will be included in the collection today.

Smith said last night that he expects the collection today to be even greater than yesterday since the area to be covered is considerably larger. He reminded that paper is the nation's most critical war need at the present time and urged all residents to dig deep into their cellars and attics in an effort to help alleviate that need.

Dougherty asked that all wastepaper and magazines be securely tied in bundles to facilitate handling.

Ryba and Maltzberger
Glamorize Forgotten
Men of Bull Pen

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Gordy Maltzberger, of the Chicago White Sox, and Mike Ryba, of the Boston Red Sox, are doing their bit to glamorize the forgotten men of the bull pen by helping their clubs run a pennant fever in the American League's first division.

With the majors enjoying a second straight open date for travel, Maltzberger is pacing the junior league hurlers with a 7-1 record and Ryba is close behind with seven victories and two setbacks.

When Orval Grove, Bill Dietrich, Thornton Lee or Ed Lopat start to weaken, Jimmy Dykes calls for Maltzberger who twice has beaten St. Louis and Washington and once tamed Detroit, Philadelphia and Cleveland. Only the Boston Red Sox were able to beat him 3-2 in a twice inning game on May 19. Dykes would use him on the front line if he weren't so valuable in reserve.

Ryba, like Maltzberger, has appeared in twenty-three games, and matched the White Sox hurler in his won and lost record until he bowed to Washington Sunday, 5-4. Specs Klemm, of Cleveland, also has been called to duty twenty-three times but has not been as effective for the celtic Indians who have less complete games pitched than any other team in the circuit.

Ace Adams, of the New York Giants, has appeared in twenty-four games since he went back on relief, a far cry from the seventy that established a modern record last year, but enough to take up some of the slack of Mel Ott's uncertain staff.

George Caster has been an important but overlooked factor in the success of the St. Louis Browns, appearing in seventeen games as a fireman, although his importance in saving games in which the starter wobbled but still led is not shown in his 2-3 win record.

Les Webster, of Brooklyn; Xavier Rescigno, of Pittsburgh; Joe Berry, of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Joe Heving, of Cleveland, are other bull pen toppers who have been getting plenty of duty.

Foreigners were not admitted to the Chinese city of Changsha until the end of the Nineteenth century.

Birthday

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Churchill Downs . . . May 17, 1875. . . . .
Ulysses S. Grant was president of the United States . . . Indians were still causing unrest in the West . . .
On that date was the first Kentucky derby.

Col. Matt Winn, as a boy 14 years old, was present that historic day, watching Aristides galloping to victory. He viewed the race from the back of his father's grocery wagon, never boy-dreaming that he later was to become the guiding genius of America's No. 1 turf classic. He is one of the few living who saw the first Kentucky and has seen every ensuing derby during the last seventy years.

For the last forty-five years he has been its Poobah, developing the race into the greatest, oldest, richest, breath-taking spectacle of the turf.

Which is getting around to mention that Friday Col. Winn will celebrate his eighty-fourth birthday anniversary to become the oldest man in the nation actively connected with sports. Kenesaw Mountain Landis, respected commissioner of baseball, is 77. Connie Mack, beloved owner of the Philadelphia Athletics, is 81. A. A. Alonso Stagg, football's "grand old man," will be 83 on August 18.

How does Col. Winn manage to stay up there, poking his nose under the wire a winner, at his age, manage three race tracks?

He's got the answer. "Never worry. Always keep living in the future. Never in the past. As each day dies it should be buried with the dead."

Col. Winn has snow white hair, ruddy cheeks, clear blue eyes, an inexhaustible fund of energy and good humor, and he stands erect. He doesn't look a day over 50. He hasn't consulted a doctor, officially, in forty-four years and has all his teeth with the exception of four.

Still Has Wisdom Teeth

"Those dentist fellows," the colonel says, "tell me I am one of the few living who, at my age, have their wisdom teeth. A man certainly needs his wisdom teeth around a race track."

Col. Winn, who drinks an occasional highball of Kentucky bourbon mixed with water, has never bothered with a diet. He eats what he likes and goes to bed when the spirit moves him. He has never owned a thoroughbred. He refers to them as "horses," not "horses." Since he became a racing executive he has never made a wager on a horse. He tries sincerely to enforce a strict rule which is that no one connected with his organization should bet.

Today Col. Winn is the most dominant figure in racing. He is the managing director of Churchill Downs at Louisville, Ky., and Lincoln Fields in Chicago, recently was elected president of the Empire City race track at Yonkers, N. Y., and is the man behind the scenes at Laurel race track near Baltimore, Md.

Col. Winn, a widower, lives in a luxurious suite in Chicago's Drake hotel to be near his married daughters.

Segura Breezes

Quarter-Finals

Defending Champ in NCAA
Event Trims Utah
State Racqueteer

EVANSTON, Ill., June 27 (AP)—

Francisco (Pancho) Segura, of Miami, (Fla.) university, breezed a step closer today to his second straight singles championship in the NCAA tennis tournament with a short-and-sweet triumph over Dale Lewis, of Utah State, 6-1, 6-0.

In moving into tomorrow's quarter-final round with seven other contenders, Segura befuddled his young Rocky Mountain Conference foe with sizzling drives and tricky jobs for a quick third-round killing. The parade into the quarter final was almost a solid southern and far western bloc, including five of the six seeded players. Notre Dame's Charlie Sampson, who bested Bob Lewis, of Utah, 6-4, 6-2, was the only midwesterner to survive the third round.

Middle Netman Loses

The east's last survivor fell by the wayside when fourth-seeded Johnny Hickman, of Texas, trimmed Bob Davis, of the United States Naval Academy, 6-2, 6-4.

Hickman, teaming up with Felix Kelley, also got Texas off to a good start in defense of its doubles title with a 6-0, 6-2 triumph over Michigan's Aiden Johnson and Roy Boucher as the first round of two-man competition cut an original field of sixteen teams to eight.

The Texas duo is top-seeded, due mainly to the fact Hickman combined with Walt Driver last year to win the title. Segura tomorrow collides with Stan Clarke, of California Tech, who today eliminated Notre Dame's Jerry Evert, 6-1, 7-5. Nick Buzich, of Pepperdine college (Los Angeles), fifth-seeded, erased Jimmy Griffin, of Notre Dame, 6-0, 6-1, and thus the third round doused the high hopes the Irish held of grabbing Segura's undefeatable team toga.

Georgia Tech Favored

Replacing Notre Dame as team favorite was Georgia Tech, whose two-man entry of Joe Willett, seeded sixth, and Howard McCall, won third round matches handily. Willett brushed aside Vic Soukup, of Western Michigan, 6-3, 6-0, while McCall measured Bob Stuckert, of Western Michigan, 6-1, 6-3.

Today's eighth singles winner was No. 3 seeded Harry Likas of Gonzaga, who polished off Michigan's Aiden Johnson, 6-0, 6-3. Willett and McCall also teamed to give second seeded Georgia Tech a 6-3, 6-2 doubles victory over Notre Dame.

Bill McDaniel Wins
Maryland Junior Open

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—Bill McDaniel, 17-year-old Silver Spring golfer, turned in a one-over-par 70 today to win the 1944 Maryland junior open in a tournament which resulted in deadlocks for second place in every division.

McDaniel finished three strokes ahead of the runnersup, Billy Gehring, 18, of Baltimore, and Read Thippeny, 18, of Silver Spring, who tallied seventy-three strokes each in the eighteen-hole medal play competition.

In the 16 and 17-year-class, Billy Collins, 16, of Baltimore, took first place with a 75. Tied for second were Bob Roy, 17, and Alan Weisberg, 16, both of Washington, with 77s.

John B. Bruff, Jr., 15, of Baltimore, walked off with honors in the division for 15-year-olds and under, chalking up a 75. The second place tie in this section was between Paul De Haviland, 14, of Baltimore, and Walter Gaynor, 15, of Baltimore, who had 78s.

Tucker, of White Sox, Still
Tops List with .369
Average

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Cleveland's Oris Hockett made the biggest leap in the American League batting race this week by jumping from sixth to second place after fattening his average by ten points to .338.

Thurman Tucker, of Chicago, still topped the list with a .369, dropping only two points off his batting beam of a week ago. Hockett was followed by Bobby Doerr and Irvin Fox, both of Boston, with .325 apiece.

Averages were computed through Sunday's games and based on 150 or more times at bat.

The New York Yankees had only one representative among the leaders of the specialized department—Johnny Lindell was tied with the Browns' Don Guttridge with the most three-base hits, six. Doerr was tops in hits, with seventy-nine, and runs, with forty-seven, while Cleveland's Roy Cullenbine still led in two-base blows, nineteen, and was locked with Frank Hayes, of Philadelphia, in home runs with eight. Stephens maintained his runs-batted-in lead with forty-four and George Case, of Washington, had the most stolen bases, seventeen.

Gordon Maltzberger, the White Sox fireman, headed the pitching records with a 7-1 record for .875, while Buck Newsom, of Philadelphia, took over the lead in strikeouts by fanning sixty-five batsmen. The first ten batsmen follow:

Sinkwich Awaits
Army Examination

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 27 (AP)—Frankie Sinkwich, who gained football fame at halfback for the University of Georgia and later starred with the Detroit Lions pro team, is making the rounds of the armed forces, but regardless of what happens, Sinkwich won't play pro football next fall.

Sinkwich was given an honorable discharge from the marines because of high blood pressure, ailing feet and a heart murmur. He played with the Lions last fall, then enlisted in the merchant marine. Before reporting, he passed his army exam, but was permitted to join the merchant marines.

Now Sinkwich is back in Youngstown awaiting another examination—for the army.

"I'm not definitely in—or out—of the merchant marine, he explained. "I trained at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., and following an examination they wanted to give me a discharge because of ailing feet. I refused. They wanted to put me in administrative work, but my Athens, Ga., draft board refused to grant permission. I'll be called for an army examination—probably next week—but there appears to be a chance of getting back in the merchant marine if I'm turned down."

Sinkwich is married and the father of a year-old daughter.

medals will be awarded to holders of first, second and third places by the Maryland Veterans of Foreign Wars. The American Legion, Department of Maryland, will award a trophy to the winner and the Department of Maryland, Disabled American Veterans, will furnish ribbons to all finishers.

Bainbridge Defeats Cutters in Eighth

BAINBRIDGE, Md., June 27 (AP)—With a four-run uprising in the eighth inning, the Bainbridge Commodores broke up a hotly-contested game and stole a 6-3 verdict from the Curtis Bay coast guard nine this afternoon for their twenty-seventh win of the season.

Trailing by one run, Jess Pike led off the Commodores' eighth with a triple. Elbie Fletcher walked and Dick Dick Sisler blasted out his third consecutive single to drive in Pike. Bob Scheffing followed with a double that was good for two more runs and scored when Pitcher Maxie Wilson singled through second.

It was the Commodores' sixth win over the Cutters, against three losses and a tie. The teams will play in Baltimore, Thursday afternoon.

Cliff Spencer Wins State Golf Tourney

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—Cliff Spencer, unattached Washington professional, carded a 144 on two 36-hole rounds to take his third Maryland state open golf championship today and qualify for the PGA tournament.

Playing his first double round in two years, Spencer bettered par on each round 72-72 to finish four strokes ahead of Andy Gibson, Maryland Country Club pro.

Gibson had a 74-74-148. Capt. W. S. Covington, Aberdeen Proving Grounds, led the amateurs with 75-76-148.

Marine Second Lieut. Ed "Moose" Krause, former Notre Dame football and basketball star, is attending aviation ground officers school at Quantico, Va.

The SPORTLIGHT By GRANTLAND RICE

The Approach of the Fourth
The approach of July Fourth doesn't always tell the final story of the two pennant races, but on a general average this date gives you a pretty fair line on the final outcome.

When the 1944 season opened it took no great soothsayer to predict the Cardinals would win the National League argument by almost any margin they cared to roll up—possibly some twenty games.

The facts are that few National League clubs have a ballplayer good enough to make the Cardinal team as it stands today. There are more than a few who believe they could beat any team picked from the rest of the league. They have just as good a club as they had a year ago when the other fifteen clubs have suffered shattering blows in every department.

Outside of the Cardinals the National League could put on an interesting race with several clubs bunched in the middle of the omicron. Back in 1906, as we recall the distant details, Frank Chance's Cubs set a winning record at 116 games. This season the Cardinals have a chance to go after this long ago mark unless they start losing or take an extended slump or unless the call of the draft sounds much louder than it has to date.

For all of this many clubs are well ahead of last season in the way of attendance with Pirates, Reds, Giants, and Dodgers all hoping to finish in the first division. The margin among these four is still on the slender side.

Different in American League
The American League is an entirely different proposition. There the cold, keen scythe of the draft has cut them all down to an almost even level.

This scythe struck the Yankees with the most devastating force, leaving a once great club with only ordinary talent left.

I ran again into my friend George Weiss, head of the Yankee farm system, who preceded in this column weeks ago that any team in the league—or almost any team—could win the American League pennant. Weeks ago Weiss told me this—"by the Fourth of July we'll have at least six teams—running neck and neck—something that has never happened in the history of baseball. We may even have seven or eight clubs riding into midsummer under a single blanket."

"These are not the best clubs we've ever had, but they are the best matched clubs that baseball has ever known. And that's what the public wants now in the knowledge that most of our stars are where they should be—in the army or navy. After all it is the race that counts in the days we now know."

"What's the chance of five teams moving into September pretty well bunched?" I asked the alert Mr. Weiss.

"Very good," he said. "In fact we may have the whole league bunched through the last month. Certainly no team at the end of June has shown any important advantage. The Browns and the Red Sox have been out in front most of June, but not far enough to count. Have you noticed how many of these teams win five or six games in a row, and then drop the same number?"

"If you check from start to finish the Browns have been just a little more consistent. But don't forget they got a big jump on the rest of us."

We still think the Yankees will improve and that they still have a chance. But that's just a guess. Certainly no pennant race in baseball history ever had eight clubs as well bunched as the American League is this year on the edge of July Fourth.

In the meanwhile however the A. L. might as well keep all eyes adjusted to those hustling Browns.

It might be mentioned also that Mel Ott has turned in a fine job for his Giants, not only as a leader but also a ballplayer who has done far more than his share when you consider his age and his previous baseball service.

You can also rate the brilliant pitching, Bucky Walters has given the Reds all year. So far Bucky has been the star pitcher from both leagues and there is better than an even chance that the Red star will pass the twenty game winning game mark with something to spare. Borowy of the Yankees, Sewell of the Pirates, Newhouse of the Tigers and Voiselle of the Giants are also taking dead aim on the 20 game target. With better luck, or any sort of luck, Voiselle would be neck and neck with Bucky Walters who is in the middle of one of his best seasons. — North American Newspaper Alliance.

Navy Announces Posthumous Award For Heroic Sergeant

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Marine Sgt. Herbert J. Thomas, who threw himself on a grenade to save the lives of his squad in the jungle fighting on Bougainville, has been awarded the Congressional medal of honor posthumously, the navy announced today.

The 25-year-old sergeant, son of Herbert Thomas, South Charleston, W. Va., was leading his squad against a Japanese emplacement. He hurled a grenade but it struck dense jungle vines and fell back into the squad.

"Sgt. Thomas deliberately flung himself upon it to smother the explosion, valiantly sacrificing his life for his comrades," the citation said. "Inspired by his action, his men unhesitatingly charged the enemy machine gun and, with fierce determination, killed the crew and several other nearby defenders."

No Political News, FDR Tells Reporters

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—A reporter asked President Roosevelt today "is there anything that can be said about the Democratic candidate for president?"—and got the laughing brush-off that has become almost routine in recent White House news conferences.

The president observed that the assembled reporters had saddled the question on his questioner today, and said there was no news on the subject.

Gov. Dewey's Mother Arrives in Chicago

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's mother slipped quietly into the Republican convention swirl today with a broad smile and a calm concession that she was happy.

"Yes, I'm happy," she told newsmen. "But I'm always happy."

She skipped tonight's session at the stadium to rest and prepare for a trip there tomorrow to witness the nomination of her only son.

Bethlehem Steel Workers Strike

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 27 (AP)—Demands for wage adjustments caused 1,200 employees of the Bethlehem Steel Company, car shop to remain idle today.

The strikers' grievances were termed "an accumulation of actions on the part of the management," by CIO staff representative Harry Baxerdel. "The men are not seeking a wage increase," he added.

"but are attempting to get an adjustment in the job process which has lowered their earnings over the past ten days."

Ralph F. Hough, general manager of the plant, who said the dispute began when five men in the wheel and axle assembly department asked for a wage increase, termed the walkout a "clear violation" of the "no-strike pledge."

War Bond Sales Reach $5,805,000

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—War bond sales in the Fifth War Loan drive totaled $5,805,000 through yesterday, the treasury reported today. This is thirty-six per cent of the $16,000,000,000 quota.

Sales to individuals totaled $1,919,000,000, thirty-two per cent of the quota for these sales, and sales to corporations and other non-banking investors totaled $3,886,000,000 or thirty-nine per cent of this quota.

The drive, which opened June 12, will be concluded July 8.

It was announced that the American first armored division, veterans of the Tunisian campaign and the successful onslaught on Rome, destroyed or captured twenty-two enemy tanks, twenty-five motor vehicles, twenty-six anti-tank guns, twelve field guns and killed an estimated 300 of the enemy in a three-day period last week.

The American capture of valuable Cherbourg and the rapid British attack which gave the Germans no rest came almost four years to the day after Hitler had announced that "the war in the west is finished."

German broadcasts betrayed fears of new Allied "leap frog landings" along the French coast now that Cherbourg has been eliminated along with the big coastal guns the Germans had been manning around it.

There Are No Finer Tires Than Cumberland Built Kellys

Cumberland built Kellys have come to mean Dependability. Top quality, low stretch cord, compactly twisted, gives maximum strength to each ply. They are built with modern shape and design. When inflated, the sides round out, placing more tread rubber under compression—not tension. This way more rubber comes in contact with the road.

When you are eligible for new tires, remember there are no finer tires than Cumberland built Kellys.

Wyatt To Probe Rail Crossing Blockades Here

City Must File Complaints When Acts Occur, Superintendent Advises

Harry F. Wyatt, superintendent of the Cumberland division, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, yesterday told city officials that he is in a position to take corrective action in matters pertaining to the unnecessary blocking of crossings provided his office is notified immediately when such acts occur.

Wyatt made this statement at a meeting with Mayor Thomas S. Post, members of the council, the city solicitor and chief of police, during a one-hour session in city hall at which unguarded crossings and the smoke nuisance also was discussed. Accompanying Wyatt was Carl C. Pitcher, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division, which extends west of the viaduct, and William A. Gunter, company counsel.

Must Investigate at Once

"The blocking of crossings within the city is simply a matter of police to correct the condition," Wyatt declared. "But such cases must be reported to me when they happen so corrective action may be taken. These reports will be quite helpful to use in making investigation at once. Letters are not effective and it's too late for use to take action after complaints come to us three or four days after the damage has been done."

Wyatt said he is anxious to handle matters where the "hot" spot of immediate investigation will be made to find the guilty party or parties.

James Orr, police and fire commissioner, stressed the enormous flow of traffic on the Pittsburgh division, and asked company officials to consider placing watchmen in service for twenty-four hours daily on the Knox and Pear street crossings which are now unguarded between the hours of 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. He pointed out that 24-hour service is now given at the Franklin and Valley street crossings.

B. & O. officials pointed out that the same number of watchmen are now employed as in past years and said there is no record to differentiate between the local crossings.

Urges 24-Hour Service

Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman, said that the north end section has developed rapidly in the last six or seven years and urged a twenty-four hour service by watchmen at four crossings above the viaduct.

Gunter said that this matter will be taken into consideration by the company.

Wyatt stated that when trains get past the viaduct they belong to Pitcher as that's where the Pittsburgh division starts.

The local superintendent's main interest is complaints about the blocked Frederick, Bedford and Baltimore street crossings.

Heskett told of trains pulling up to Franklin street, then stopping to block all of the crossings from Frederick to Franklin streets while waiting for a caboose to be attached.

The blocking of crossings was aggravated by switching at Frederick and Bedford streets, the city attorney said.

"What can be done to correct these excessive blockings," Heskett asked.

Wyatt stated that when such things occur he should be advised immediately and he will institute a check on the matter.

Heskett also spoke of some engineers stopping their locomotives right smack on the crossing instead of clearing it to allow vehicular traffic to pass.

Defending crossing watchmen, Pitcher declared some drivers don't have any regard for human life. He added that just last week a watchman was run down and killed near Pittsburgh. "A watchman's job is to play safe," Pitcher concluded.

No Signal, Stand Still

Pitcher's defense was in answer to Eyerman's query as to what a motorist should do when he isn't warned across by a watchman after the tracks have been cleared.

Wyatt added, "No signal means stand still. Toot your horn if you know the crossing is clear and you don't get the signal from the watchman."

When asked, "What can we do about smoke?" by Heskett, Wyatt explained that firing too heavily aggravates smoke and this is an educational matter for the railroad. He also stressed that the railroads are getting a poor grade of coal, which he termed ninety-five per cent strip coal, and that was adding to the smoke problem.

The final matter discussed was traffic congestion around the Queen city station. Wyatt advised Heskett that the company has made a survey at that point and is getting estimates on the cost of enlarging the parking facilities of that area.

Pitcher said the B. & O. railroad tries to teach its men to be good neighbors but added that some are jittery due to the long hours they are working. In conclusion, Wyatt told city officials that the volume of traffic in the present emergency is no boy's job.

Others attending the meeting were Commissioners William E. McDonald and Hunter B. Helfrich.

Rules on Service Packages Explained

Address packages legibly, wrap securely and do not fill packages with a lot of odds and ends when the soldier seeks only chewing gum and razor blades, the local post office warned yesterday in response to complaints from the War department.

Addresses should be typewritten or inscribed in ink. Sales slips should not be used as address labels as these are often illegible.

The War department insists that overseas packages contain only the articles the soldier requests, postal officials said.

FAIRGO DRESSES UP—Here's a camera-eye view of the concourse at the Fairgo race track which has been improved by the installation of a water-bound macadam based blacktop walk in preparation for the 1944 ten-day meeting which will get under way August 8. The photograph was taken from the porch of the jockey club. The blacktop replaces limestone screenings and is regarded as one of the biggest improvements made in the history of the local plant. Walkways, stairways and the flooring in the boxes is being improved with an application of one inch of plastic rock to make the grandstand waterproof. The front entrance walkway is being modernized and new roofing will be added to the grandstand. The improvements will cost approximately $10,000.

Fairgo Concourse Is Blacktopped; Improvements Made to Grandstand

Plastic Rock Flooring Laid; Pursues for 1944 Race Meet Increased

Blacktop Eliminates Dust

Earl C. Robertson, secretary-treasurer of the Cumberland Contracting Company, said that approximately thirty tons of waterbound macadam base with blacktop has been laid to a thickness of one and one-half inches. The section covered in front of the grandstand is 300 feet long and fifty feet wide. The job required ten days and was completed last Saturday.

This improvement should be good news to the thousands of racegoers who usually congregate in front of the grandstand to get a close-up of each race. The blacktop walk will eliminate the dust which prevailed and matted up many a suit of clothes and pair of shoes in former years.

Other changes now being effected relate to grandstand improvements. Stairways leading into the grandstand from the concourse, the main walkways in the grandstand and the flooring in all boxes are being covered with a waterproof plastic rock which is put down in the same manner as concrete and has a tar base applied by means of a brush.

The purpose of this operation is to make the grandstand leakproof so that those standing in the shelter below will not get a bath when it rains. This work now under way is in charge of Charles A. Roeder, local contractor.

The second layer of flooring which was laid in 1937 in the grandstand walkways is being removed to make way for the application of plastic rock which will have a thickness of one inch.

Workers were busily engaged yesterday in tearing down the sloping walkway at the front entrance to the grandstand. Badly rotted, the wooden walk will be replaced by a stone base, macadam and blacktop covering.

Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, said that the leaky grandstand will get a newly covered roof and that color of the trim on the grandstand and other buildings will be changed from red to green before the 1944 race season gets under way.

Purses Are Increased

Minimum purses for the races this year will be $700 instead of $600 as of last year, White said, and there will be two $1,000 purses offered each on Saturday.

Altogether seventy $700 purses, eight $800 purses and two $1,000 purses—a total of $57,400—will be offered in the eighty races in ten days. There will be eight races daily and post time will be 2:30 o'clock.

White pointed out that purses as low as $300 a race when the Fairgo plant was opened in 1924 and the present figures represent the highest ever offered by the association. "The bigger the purses the better the grade of horses," White said.

224 Horses Booked

The association president stated that 224 horses already are booked for the coming meeting. There are accommodations for 396 bangtails at the Fairgo track barns, he stated.

The annual agricultural exhibit will be continued this year and will be held the second week, commencing Tuesday, August 15.

Six Motorists Given Warning By Ration Board

Gasoline Rations Will Be Revoked for Second Speeding Charge

Emphatic warnings to refrain from future violations were given to six Allegheny county motorists accused of exceeding the wartime speed limit of thirty-five miles an hour at hearings conducted yesterday by War Price and Rationing Board No. 231.

Harry A. Porch, chairman, and Harold W. Smith, of the ration board, conducted the hearings and informed the motorists that their gasoline rations will be revoked if they are again summoned before the board on similar charges. No rations were withdrawn yesterday.

Following the hearings, Karl W. Radcliff, chief clerk of the board, announced that one additional motorist has been summoned before the board Friday afternoon. He added that dates for future hearings will be set upon receipt of a list of additional violators.

Confined to Jail

One motorist summoned for trial yesterday was unable to be present, board members said, because he is confined in the county jail until July 18, after being convicted of violating the motor vehicle law as the result of charges entered against him on May 26 by State Trooper G. M. Rotruck.

He is Harry L. Morrison, Flintstone, who is accused of driving as fast as sixty-five miles an hour. Morrison was arrested after a chase by Trooper Rotruck ended when the officer fired a bullet into a tire on his automobile.

Among the motorists warned yesterday was Russell C. Jeffries, Lonaconing, who was arrested on Route 40 three miles west of Frostburg on May 3 by State Trooper Blair J. Buckel. He was accused of attaining a maximum speed of seventy miles an hour.

Mrs. Georgia L. Ritenour, 101 Park street, was warned on a charge of driving at maximum speeds of fifty-five to sixty miles an hour two miles west of Frederick on Route 40. She was arrested May 13 by Trooper H. L. Basore.

Norman P. Myers, Mt. Savage, was given a warning on a charge of driving fifty-five miles an hour on Route 40, LaVale. He was arrested June 11 by Trooper Graydon S. Dunlap.

Arrested near Middletown

Earle O. Edmunds, 631 Elm street, arrested June 2 by Lt. Carl B. Dillinger, of the state police, on a charge of driving fifty miles an hour on Route 40 near Middletown, also was given a warning.

Marshall W. Wolford, Frostburg, employee of the Garrett County Refractories Corporation, was given a warning on a charge of driving a truck at a maximum speed of fifty miles an hour on Route 40 three and one-half miles east of Grantsville. He was arrested June 5 by Trooper Buckel.

Edward Howard Shaffer, 154 Polk street, was warned on a charge of driving at a maximum speed of forty-seven miles an hour on the McMillen highway. He was arrested May 29 by Trooper Glen D. Folk.
